Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

S[redacted]

(

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely [redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincer [redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerel[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sinc[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincer[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sinc

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Since[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Si[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerel[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

[redacted]

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

S[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely [redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

S[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sinc[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

S[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerel [redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerel[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincer [redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely [redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 0 2 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sinc[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 0 2 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Since

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED
11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 0 2 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincer

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Since[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely [redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincer

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

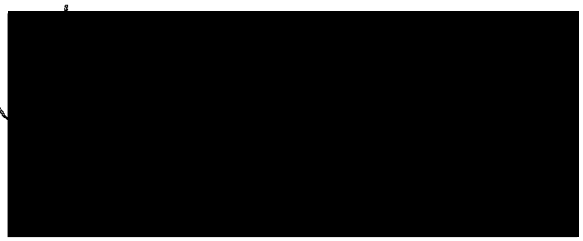
To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,



Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

S [redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 09 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely [redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

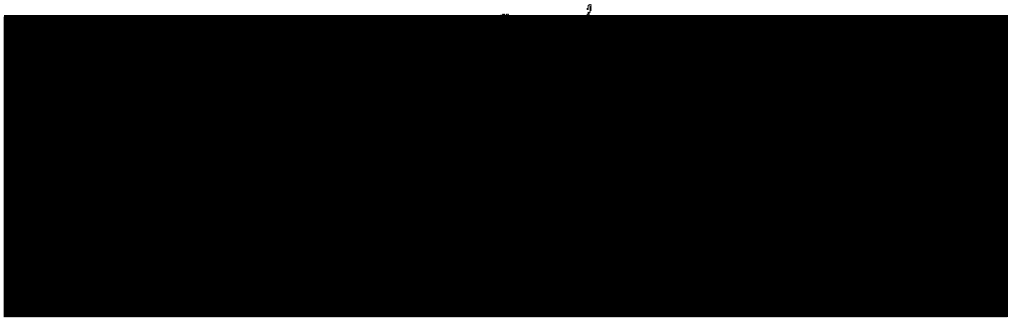
11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.



Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

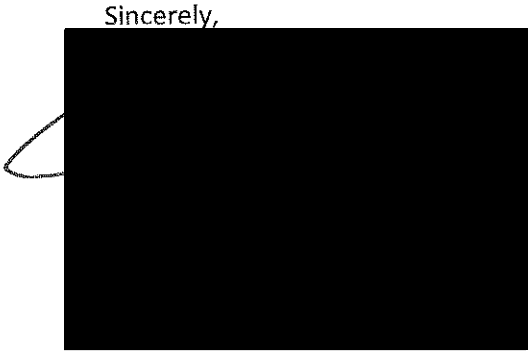
To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,



Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 6 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation
DEC 17 2019
RECEIVED

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation
DEC 06 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sin

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation
Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation
DEC 17
DEC 06 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely [redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Since[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sinc[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 6 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerel[redacted]

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 06 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation
DEC 13 2019
RECEIVED

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerel[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulati
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincere[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

11/29/2019

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

To the Department of Business Regulations of Rhode Island;

I am writing in opposition to the proposal to have out-of-state recommendation be matched by a form of ID from the state where the recommendation came. The out-of-state recommendation is my lifeline, as I cannot afford the expense of a recommendation here. The state allowed this practice to take place and many patients like me were so grateful because it was cost effective and did not result in delay in getting my medicine. Now we could be left out in the cold and no longer able to get medicine here. This is a harmful proposal that will force patients back into the black market or to rec stores in MA. Please do not harm patients in this way – especially after you opened the door for us with this allowance.

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerel

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerel[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincer

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 09 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation
DEC 09 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

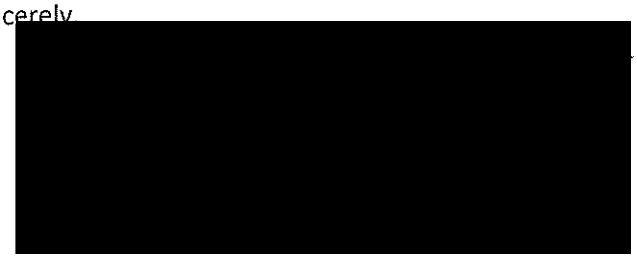
To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,



Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 09 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 09 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

S[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincer[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance
DEC 02 2019
RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sin[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerel [redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincer[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 09 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sir [redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation
DEC 09 2019
RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 09 2019

RECEIVED 12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 09 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 09 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the stre

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

[redacted]

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincer [redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sin[redacted]

Business Regulation
MMP Compliance

DEC 02 2019

RECEIVED

11/26/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Business Regulation
Office of Cannabis Regulation

DEC 0 9 2019

RECEIVED

12/01/2019

To whom it may concern at the RI DBR,

I am a Rhode Island medical marijuana patient and my card will be up for renewal within the year. I am writing to you to formally request that you streamline the process for obtaining a medical marijuana card and create a more user-friendly system. Currently, the experience of obtaining a legitimate Rhode Island medical marijuana card is expensive, time consuming and extremely difficult to navigate.

My primary care physician will not engage in conversation regarding the program nor sign the MMP application. My local dispensary has informed me that they are not allowed (per DBR instruction) to advise or refer me to a clinic that specializes in approving MMP conditions. I do not know where to obtain this information or ANY information regarding access to MMJ consultants. This intentional absence of information is disheartening, and the process is intimidating to people new to the program and in need.

I have been told by other patients that the easiest way to get one's card is online through a clinic in California. If this is no longer the case, I sincerely urge the DBR to follow suit with Mass and make the process user-friendly. The current application process is so laborious, it is easier to buy on the street.

Sincerely,