Regulatory Analysis Summary and Supporting Documentation:

The Rhode Island Department of Education (RIDE) has undertaken an update of its teacher certification regulations. These regulations impact the almost 16,000 educators who are certified to work in Rhode Island. RIDE has attempted to both update the regulation using education policy best practices, and to respond to the feedback from the many stakeholders in public education.

RIDE did a 20-year benefit-cost analysis (see attached) from 2018 through 2038, and this 20-year horizon is justified by fact that the benefits are seen over the entire lifetime of the students being educated. The costs are subtracted from the benefits to calculate a net benefit. To analyze benefits and costs that occur at different times, this analysis uses discount rates to calculate a present value for all future costs and benefits. Discount rates of three percent and seven percent are used as a sensitivity analysis.
