Individuals will be informed about the HIE through materials that explain the context and process of HIE enrollment, including any and all choices available to the individual such as identifying which provider participants will be able to view their health care information through the HIE.
 3. Individuals will be informed that by enrolling in the HIE, at a minimum, they are authorizing health care providers that care for them in emergencies or other unscheduled events, to access their health information through the RI HIE on a temporary basis. - G. In the event of either of the above, the RHIO shall be responsible to safeguard the protected health information in its care, custody and control until the PHI has been transferred to another entity.

6.3.3 Special Requirements Pertaining to the Health Information Exchange (HIE) and the Rhode Island Regional Health Information Organization (RHIO) notify the provider participant, in writing, that the requested amendment to health information has been completed.

3. If the patient participant requests a change to his or her CurrentCare record, and the RHIO determines that the change is due to an operational issue, the RHIO will address the error pursuant to its internal error resolution procedures by making the correction and notifying the patient participant within thirty (30) days of the correction that the correction has been made.
4. The RHIO shall have written data sharing agreements in place with provider participants who submit data to the HIE. Such agreements shall, at a minimum, contain all required business associate agreement components.

The processes contained in rules and regulations pertaining to Practices and Procedures Before the Rhode Island Department of Health (Subchapter 05 Part 4 of this Chapter), and as otherwise permitted by the Administrative Procedures Act, shall apply.

1. To obtain a copy of his/her confidential health information from the HIE by:
 - a. Submitting a valid and authenticated request to access the HIE record via the methods made available by the RHIO.
 - b. The form and methods shall be publicly available through posting on the HIE website (www.currentcareri.org) including enrolling in CurrentCare for Me.
 - c. Requestors may also call the CurrentCare information line to complete and submit the information on the form over the phone. To do so, the requestor must successfully complete the requirements of the identity verification process by supplying identifying information through a series of questions initiated by a RHIO representative over the phone and for the sole purpose of a single occurrence of a telephone request to submit the form.
 - d. If the requestor prefers, he or she may fill out a form in person at the RHIO offices after identity verification has occurred. The requestor may either obtain an enrollee request to access record form via the website or request a form be mailed to them.
 - e. If neither is possible, then the requestor may send a letter containing the same information as is required by the form and have it authenticated in the same manner as the written form.
 2. To designate which provider participant(s) are authorized to access his/her confidential health information through the HIE by completing a valid and authenticated enrollment and authorization form setting forth the provider participants who are authorized to have access to his/her confidential health information through the HIE. The form shall be publicly available through posting on the HIE website (www.currentcareri.org); or the patient participant or their authorized representative may request in writing or over the telephone that a form be sent to them.
 3. A patient participant at any time after enrollment may change his or her authorization for a provider participant to access his/her information through the RI HIE by completing a valid and authenticated form requesting an amendment or termination of authorization. The form, along with information about where to submit the form, shall be publicly available through posting on the HIE website (www.currentcareri.org).

4. To obtain a copy of the disclosure report pertaining to his or her confidential health information by submitting a request for a disclosure report. The forms along with information about where to submit the form shall be publicly available through posting on the HIE website (www.currentcareri.org); The RHIO will make every effort to provide disclosure reports in a prompt manner while recognizing that state and federal law allow up to sixty (60) days to respond. If extenuating circumstances arise, the RHIO may have an additional thirty (30) days to provide the disclosure report to the enrollee. Each request for disclosure history will be addressed in accordance with 45 C.F.R. § 164.528(a). A charge for a copy of the disclosure report may be imposed if consistent with state law.
5. To be notified, if required by either R.I. Gen. Laws Chapter 11-49.2 [Rhode Island Identity Theft Protection Act], or the HIPAA Final Omnibus Rule, of a breach of the security system of the HIE that resulted in the unauthorized access, use or disclosure of personal information or unsecured protected health information.
6. To terminate his or her participation in the HIE at any time in accordance with the Act and this Part by submitting a Revocation of Authorization form to the RHIO. The form and methods for termination shall be publicly available through posting on the HIE website (www.currentcareri.org) or the patient participant or authorized representative may call the RHIO to request a form be sent to them.
7. To revoke access of provider participants to the patient participant's health information at any time in accordance with the Act and this Part by submitting a Revocation of Authorization Form. The form and methods for revocation of access of provider participant to the patient participant's health information shall be publicly available through posting on the HIE website (www.currentcareri.org) or the patient participant or authorized representative may call the RHIO to request a form be sent to them.
8. Upon a patient participant's completed termination of enrollment from the HIE, no additional confidential health information for that patient will be collected by the HIE and the patient's confidential health information in the HIE will no longer be accessible to a provider participant. Nothing in this Part shall preclude a provider participant from accessing the provider participant's own record of the patient. The revocation of a patient's authorization will not affect the previous disclosures or access to the patient's health information while the patient's authorization and enrollment was in effect.

9. Since the HIE does not create patient confidential health information, but receives confidential health information from provider participants, the patient participant may request to amend his or her own information through provider participants by submitting a request to amend confidential health information form consistent with this Part. The form and methods shall be publicly available through posting on the HIE website (www.currentcareri.org) or the patient participant or authorized representative may call the RHIO to request a form be sent to them. The RHIO will respond directly to a patient participant request and follow its policies and procedures if there is an administrative error that does not require an amendment to the record received from the provider participant.

6.5.2 Confidentiality Protections

Confidentiality protections for patient participants in the HIE are pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws Chapter 5-37.7 and this Part; additionally the Department reserves the right to review the policies and procedures applicable to the HIE bi-annually to help assess successes and areas for improvement.

- B. Except as specifically set forth in R.I. Gen. Laws § 5-37.7-7(b), the RHIO shall not allow access to or disclosure of a patient participant's confidential health information unless it is in accordance with the patient participant's authorization on the enrollment form.
- C. Except as set forth in R.I. Gen. Laws § 5-37.7-7(b), the RHIO will not allow access to or disclosure of a patient participant's confidential health information to a provider participant unless the recipient has entered into a Data Use Agreement with the RHIO.

- E. Any request to enroll in the HIE or to withdraw or terminate enrollment from the HIE pursuant to § 6.5.1 of this Part shall be on forms which are provided by the RHIO in accordance with § 6.5.1 of this Part. 2. Train the RHIO workforce who access or hold confidential health information regarding the requirements of the Act, this Part and the RHIO's policies and procedures regarding the confidentiality and security of confidential health information.
